

Tectonics of the Levant Fault and the Northern Red Sea

8-9 July 2013, IPGP, Paris, France

Second Circular
Last week to send a contribution!

Dear colleagues, it has been 4 years now since the first Levant Fault workshop held at Institut de Physique du Globe de Paris, in 2009. The aim of this 2nd workshop is to present very recent and on-going works about the Tectonics in a broad sense of the Levant fault and its connection with the northern Red Sea and to foster more discussion and collaboration between the various groups working there. So far 8 countries are represented and still counting...

The workshop will take place on two days, 8th and 9th of July 2013, at Institut de Physique du Globe de Paris. No registration fees.

If you intend to participate, please send me the title of your contribution, authors and a short abstract.

The final deadline to register has been fixed to April 30th.

Informations to be send to : klinger@ipgp.fr

Please do not hesitate to pass this information to any colleagues that could be interested.

Looking forward to see you in Paris !

Yann Klinger

IPGP